

Looking for students to help your organization?

We know how busy your work can be and that's where our students can help. The Human Relations Administration major at the University of Delaware prepares students for careers in human resources. Students complete internships in talent acquisition, employee relations, labor relations, learning and development, and benefits and compensation and we are looking for sites to help them apply their skills out in the field.

Interns can help your organization with:

- Recruitment and interviewing candidates
- Pre-hire and onboarding support
- Maintaining and updating HR records
- Benefits administration support
- Employee satisfaction surveys
- Matters of employee relations
- Wellness and benefits initiatives
- Other tasks and special projects
